

CMHA KIDS HIT THE GREEN

King Kennedy Kids participate in Summer Arts and Sports Camp

Twice a week, the King Kennedy Summer Arts & Sports Camp kids make the trip to The Range on Green & Harvard in Highland Hills to play golf. The facility includes a large driving range and a putter practice green. Approximately thirty children, who are all between the ages of five and twelve, learn about the sport's history, how to play, and of course, golf terminology. The summer program operates with cooperation from The Phoenix Component, a non-profit organization founded by legendary former Cleveland Cavalier, Jim Chones.

The King Kennedy Summer Arts & Sports Camp allows the children to have a fun-filled summer, while taking classes in African dance, cheerleading, basketball, and golf. In addition, they go on field trips to some of Cleveland's best tourist spots: the Cleveland Metroparks Zoo and the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum. Chones, who regularly volunteers on such trips, said, "They are really having a great summer," and from the smiles on the kids' faces, it seems they agree.
