The Cuyahoga Metropolitan Housing Authority ("CMHA") is committed to making its housing and programs fully accessible to persons with disabilities.

A reasonable accommodation is an exception or change that a housing provider makes to rules, policies, services, practices or regulations that will assist a resident or applicant with a disability in taking advantage of a housing program or dwelling.

Housing Choice Voucher Program ("HCVP") participants use their vouchers in private market rental housing so reasonable accommodation requests are normally made to the property landlord. (For example: Requesting a service or emotional support animal despite a "no pet" policy; being notified over the phone of building construction for a person with a visual impairment).

There are, however, some circumstances where a participant would ask for an accommodation from CMHA. A reasonable accommodation can be requested when it has to do with the policies and procedures that govern the voucher. For example:

- A participant has a voucher for a 1 bedroom unit. The participant is/becomes a person with disability and requires a live-in-aide. The participant could request a reasonable accommodation for a live-in-aide which would add a bedroom to the voucher size in order to accommodate the need.

- A participant is/becomes a person with a disability and may ask to receive extra time in the housing search process. The standard time to lease-up is 60 days. If the search is taking longer due to a disability, the participant can ask for an extended amount of time to find housing.

- A participant or applicant who is/becomes a person with a disability may request that meetings, such as application or re-examination sessions, are done via home visit if a disability substantially limits a person’s ability to attend sessions at CMHA.

A reasonable modification is a change to the physical premises allowing a person with a disability to overcome physical obstacles that interfere with his/her use of the dwelling or common areas. For example:

- Changing knob hardware on a door to level hardware
- Installing grab bars in the bathroom

NOTE: In HCVP the request for a reasonable modification is made to the landlord; however, in most situations, it would be the responsibility of the tenant to pay for the modification.

The accommodation or modification must be necessary for the individual with the disability to fully use and enjoy their home or to participate in programs/services offered to other participants.

IF YOU ARE PERSON WITH A DISABILITY AND YOU BELIEVE YOUR LANDLORD HAS UNFAIRLY DENIED A REQUEST FOR A REASONABLE ACCOMMODATION/MODIFICATION OR IF YOU HAVE QUESTIONS ABOUT THE PROCESS, PLEASE CONTACT THE SECTION 504/ADA TEAM AT 216.271.2996 OR BY EMAIL AT RA@CMHA.NET.

More Information about Reasonable Accommodations

CMHA must grant all requests for reasonable accommodations that are needed as a result of a disability if the request is not unduly burdensome or a fundamental alteration of the housing program. If a request is denied, you have the right to know the reasons in writing. CMHA also has appeal procedures if your request is denied.

The request for an accommodation must be related to limitations arising from a disability in order for the household to qualify for a reasonable accommodation. That is, there must be a link between your disability and the accommodation or modification you are requesting or CMHA can deny your request. If the disability is readily apparent or known, for example a person uses a wheelchair, the accommodation can be made without completing forms.

A person has a disability if he/she has a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities, has a record of such impairment, or is regarded as having such impairment. Most serious medically-treated conditions are considered to be a disability.

A resident with a disability must still be able to meet essential obligations of tenancy – they must be able to pay rent, to care for the apartment, to report required information to the manager, avoid disturbing their neighbors, etc., but there is no requirement that they be able to do these things without assistance. The housing provider is required by law to keep all information about the disability confidential.
Reasonable Accommodation Process for HCVP

Using the attached forms will help you describe the request and CMHA will follow-up with you, when necessary. The attached forms include:

1. Request for a Reasonable Accommodation. This form clarifies and documents your request for changes in policies, procedures, services, and rules. (For you to complete)

2. Verification Form. If your disability is not obvious or already known to CMHA, you will need to verify your disability. You will be asked to provide contact information to CMHA for a knowledgeable professional who can verify your disability. In most cases, detailed medical information is not required. (For you to complete)

What happens after your request is received?

1. Receipt of Accommodation. CMHA will mail you a letter acknowledging that you have asked for an accommodation.

2. The person identified as the knowledgeable professional will be contacted to verify the connection between the disability and the requested accommodation.

3. You will be contacted if additional information is needed in order to process the request. If your contact information changes, please let CMHA know.

4. CMHA’s Reasonable Accommodation Committee will meet to discuss your request, a determination will be reached, and the results will be mailed to you.

5. If your request is approved, CMHA staff will keep you notified of a projected timeline and the next steps in the process.

6. If your request is denied, you have the right to appeal for reconsideration.

Reasonable Accommodation Application

The Reasonable Accommodation Application is provided to those who request a Reasonable Accommodation. A “reasonable accommodation” is a change, exception, or adjustment to a rule, policy, practice, or service that may be necessary for a person with a disability to have an equal opportunity to use and enjoy a dwelling, including public and common use spaces. Since rules, policies, practices, and services may have a different effect on persons with disabilities than on other persons, treating persons with disabilities exactly the same as others will sometimes deny them an equal opportunity to use and enjoy a dwelling. The Reasonable Accommodation process applies to most, but not all, housing programs of the Cuyahoga Metropolitan Housing Authority (CMHA).

These forms are also available on the CMHA website, www.cmha.net, the Housing Choice Voucher Program (HCVP) portal at https://www.cmha.net/apportal/index.aspx, in property management offices, and at the CMHA Administrative Offices located at 8120 Kinsman Road, Cleveland, Ohio 44104.

Please return your completed application by one of the following methods:
- Return them to the Management Office for your Property
- Mail to Cuyahoga Metropolitan Housing Authority, ATTN: Section 504/ADA Coordinator, 8120 Kinsman Road, Cleveland, Ohio 44104
- Email to ra@cmha.net
- Fax to 216-271-4103

Examples of Accommodations

These examples are informational and are not intended to limit in any way what a disabled person may request as a Reasonable Accommodation.

Additional Bedroom: A bedroom in addition to what the family would receive based upon occupancy standards. For Applicants/Residents in Low Income Public Housing it means where a person’s disability requires more than an efficiency unit or where a person with a disability is unable to share a bedroom with another family member.

Additional space for medical apparatus/equipment: In addition to what the family would receive based on occupancy standards, a member of the household with a disability needs additional space to store durable medical equipment.

Assistance animal: Any animal that aids a person with a disability. Specific examples include an animal that works, provides assistance, or performs tasks for the benefit of a person with a disability, or provides emotional support that alleviates one or more identified symptoms or effects of a person’s disability. Assistance animals perform many disability-related functions, including but not limited to, guiding individuals who are blind or have low vision, alerting individuals who are deaf or hard of hearing to sounds, providing protection or rescue assistance, pulling a wheelchair, fetching items, alerting persons to impending seizures, or providing emotional support to persons with disabilities who have a disability-related need for such support. The owner of the assistance animal is responsible for any damage caused by the animal.

Bedroom and bath on the first floor: A unit which may have multi-levels but has at least one bedroom and bath on the first floor. This option is available to a family of two or more persons who need a bed and bath on the first floor as a Reasonable Accommodation.

Exception to payment standard: The Housing Choice Voucher Program may increase the payment standard to accommodate a family that includes a person with disabilities. CMHA must perform a rent reasonableness analysis and maintain documentation that the unit has features required to meet the need of the disabled person.

Fully-accessible unit: A one-level unit which is fully accessible to a person in a wheelchair or to a person with substantial mobility impairment. Features of the unit include wider doors and hallways, lower cabinets/sinks, and accessible closets. These units are typically located on the ground floor of a family property or on any floor of a high rise building.

Home visits: Provides an exception to the requirement that a family travel to CMHA’s Administrative/Management Offices for admission, interim, and annual reexamination appointments as well as movers sessions.

Live-in Aide: A person who resides with a person with a disability in the same unit in order to care for the person. The identity of the Live-in aide must be made known at the time the application is submitted. In addition, the following requirements must be met:

- Must be essential to the care and well-being of the person;
- Must maintain their primary residence in the subsidized unit of the person whose disability requires the presence of the aide;
- Cannot be obligated for the financial support of the person with a disability;
- Would not live in the unit other than to provide the necessary supportive services;
- Is capable of serving as a Live-in Aide (possesses a level of experience capable of rendering the duties reasonably expected for providing the personal care needed to the disabled household member);
- Must be at least 18 years of age;
- Cannot be a current member of the household; and
- Is subject to screening for criminal activity or any other conduct that would otherwise bar the person from admission to CMHA’s programs.
One-level unit: The entire unit is on one flat surface with NO stairs. These units are typically found in a high rise, however a handful of units are located in family properties. All bedrooms and bathrooms are on one-level.

Person with a Disability:
- Individual with a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities;
- An individual who is regarded as having such an impairment; or
- An individual with a record of such an impairment.
